NORFOLK TEAM DEFEATED. Columbia Athletic Boys Won Out in

The Columbia Athletic Club team of the Capital City League took a fall out of the Norfolk Athletic Club team of Norfolk, Va., yesterday afternoon at Collseum Park, the Fine Contest.

The game was one of the best seen in this city for some time. The Norfolk team is composed of some of the best amateur players of that city, who are ex-college stars. Curnane was on the slab for the Columblas and held the visitors down to five hits and secured ten strike-outs. Armstrong.

for the visitors, allowed eight hits. Norfolk scored the first run on Lawler's home run over the fence. The visitors' other two runs come in the seventh, when Armstrong singled and scored on Berry's

THE DISTRICT'S COAL

HEARING BEFORE THE COMMIS-SIONERS THIS AFTERNOON.

Figures Higher Than Those Paid by Treasury Department for Same Article Explained.

When the Commissioners opened the coal bids several days ago it was discovered that the price, in the aggregate, was $10,000 more than last year for the same amount of fuel. Accordingly all bids were rejected and the contract readvertised. Only two of the original bidders cared to compete the second time, stating they had given their lowest possible figures the first time. These two were Mr. V. Baldwin Johnson and Mr. Wm. J. Zeh. Mr. Zeh failed to name the collieries from which he intended getting his coal, and his bid, therefore, was thrown out. It was about $600 lower than Mr. Johnson's in a contract worth $100,000.

The Commissioners thought they were be-Ing held up, and it was proposed to reject Mr. Johnson's second bid. He protested, and the hearing today was to determine whether the increase of $10,000 was justified by the conditions.

Mr. J. J. Darlington represented Mr. Johnson, and argued that the present bid was reasonable and allowed only a fair margin of profit to the contractor.

Mr. Johnson declared that the good grade of anthracite coal is controlled by the Philadelphia and Reading and the Susquehanna Coal companies; that these companies delivered at least three-fourths of the anthracite that would pass the inspection of thracite that would pass the inspection of the District government, and that all local dealers had to meet the prices quoted by these companies.

What the Treasury Says.

Mr. West called attention to the fact that the same quality coal is furnished the Treasury Department at a much lower rate, and asked Mr. Johnson to explain. The reply was that the treasury was a short havi, and large quantities could be delivered at a time, while with the District contract, deliveries have to be made to all portions of the county, wherever there may happen to be a school house or a fire engine house. This fact accounted for the difference in price. Mr. Johnson also said that he lost considerable money last year, and he did not believe the District Commissioners must be the contractors. sioners wanted their contractors to lose money. Mr. West agreed that this was the case, but that the Commissioners wanted to limit contractors' profits to a reasonable

When asked if he would bid on two separate contracts, one for the city and one for the county, Mr. Johnson said he would for the county, Mr. Johnson said he would not compete for the county business, as he did not believe it could be made to pay at les than $15 per ton. Major R. D. Simms, the property clerk, was present, and participated in the cross-examination of Mr. Johnson. Mr. Johnson laid great stress upon the fact that the District must deal with a responsible contractor; one that could deliver any amount of approved coal in case of an emergency. He said that dealers who get their supply from individual shippers run great risk of not being able to shippers run great risk of not being able to get a sufficient supply at a given time, whereas he always kept a surplus of 4,000 tons on hand for the use of the District.

At the conclusion of the hearing the Com-missioners said they would further consider the matter, and Mr. West stated he would have another talk with Mr. Johnson before final action is taken. He, with the other Commissioners, believes that the District should get all its commodities at the lowest possible figure, and this is all that has actuated them in declining to accept Mr. Johnson's bid. They agreed that if it was effectively demonstrated that the coal could not be purchased at a lower figure they would have to pay the price demanded, trust or no trust, as it would be impracticable for them to follow the example of the federal gov-ernment in the matter of supplies for the Panama canal and resort to foreign mar-

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Convention of Elocutionists Completes Its Business Today. The fifth and closing session of the Naional Elocutionists' convention was called to order this morning at 9 o'clock in the Public Library. The entire session was devoted to discussions on the subjects presented during the convention, reports of committees and election of officers for the ensuing term. There was a small attendance of delegates, as compared to the preious sessions, some having left the city. The first hour was consumed by delegates the were privileged to talk upon papers and recitals on the convention program, exclusive of the section work, embracing vari-ous forms of interpretation. A large number participated in the discussions.

The routine business of the convention was next disposed of before the reception of the committee reports. Reports were re-ceived from the committees on nominations of officers, resolutions and others. The committee on resolutions, consisting of Miss Emma Ostrander, Edward A. Ott and Miss Cora Marsland, offered a report which was unanimously adopted. The resolutions ex-pressed its gratitude to the local chapter for hospitality and entertainment; to the press of Washington for fair and courteous treatment in their reports of the sessions, to the Washington Readers' Club, and to others who were instrumental in making their deliberations in Washington one of the most successful in the association's his-

Prof. Soper, Miss Powell, Miss Blood. From this list seven directors were selected who will serve for a term of three years. The vote was taken after this report closed. A meeting of the board of directors will be held this evening at 8 o'clock.

Special features have been provided by the committee in charge of entertainment of the delegates during this afternoon. A trip will be taken to Arlington and other points of interest. Many of the delegates will leave during the afternoon for their homes, while others will remain in the national capital for several days. The next annual convention of the association will be held in Washington.

DECIDE TO GO TO CAMP.

High School Cadets to Have Outing at Ocean City.

A meeting of the High School Cadets, representing all the high schools of this city, was held last night at the Ebbitt House to hear the report of the committee appointed last week to consider matters incident to the proposed camp. F. S. Marlow of the visiting committee reported that he went to Ocean City, N. J., and inspected the place thoroughly, finding it to be an ideal spot for a first-class military camp. He said there were no saloons in the town, and there seemed to be all the attractions there to be found at any summer resort. He visited the leading hotels, he said, spending four days at the Hotel Piqua. Finally he went to the First National Bank, where he found that $500 had been raised for the camp fund, and a movement was on to in-crease it to $1,000.

W. Scott Hand, the cashler of the bank, extended to the cadets a cordial invitation to come to Ocean City and have a good While in Ocean City Mr. Marlow made a large drawing of the camp ground, showing the arrangement for tents. After this was exhibited the meeting unanimously voted to establish their first annual camp in Ocean City, N. J., and various committees were appointed to arrange the preliminary detalls.

A resolution was passed inviting all the members of all the uniformed companies of all the high schools who were not present to come to the meeting to be held at the Ebbitt House Wednesday evening, July
